1. Tipe Soal: PILIHAN GANDA

Pertanyaan:

The countryside is a quiet, peaceful place far from big cities. Wide open fields stretch out with green grass and tall trees. Old wooden barns sit beside farmhouses, and cows graze in grassy meadows. Dirt roads wind between farms, passing by gardens full of vegetables. The sky looks big and blue, with nothing to block the view. Birds sing in the trees, and the soft sounds of farm animals can be heard in the distance. Farmers work in their fields, growing food and taking care of the land. Everything moves slowly here, and people live close to nature, enjoying the simple beauty of open spaces and clean air.

Banda Neira

The Maluku Islands is the name given to a group of islands spread over a vast area of Eastern Indonesia. It would take months to explore even the major island groups in any depth so visitors need to be a little selective. My favourite place to visit is the Banda Islands. Of course, there are some amazing advantages to visiting the islands but there are also disadvantages.

Snorkelers and divers can arrange boat trips out to reefs and drop-offs. It is possible to catch public transport to outlying islands to explore more beaches and forts. Banda Neira has a number of inexpensive homestays where travellers can relax and enjoy local (delicious/ delicacies) such as nutmeg and almond cakes and spreads and a range of eggplant and fish dishes.

Some of them who see the benefit of Banda islands will consider this place as a museum piece and a wonderful place. There are nineteenth century villas, a museum, a colonial church and various other historically important buildings in Banda Neira. In addition to that this place was also popular as the centre of a thrilling trade in spices. It had two forts dating back to the seventeenth century. The older one was built by the Portuguese and the younger, Fort Belgica, was built by the Dutch. Those who are interested in history can spend a leisurely few days here investigating forts, spice traders' mansions and residences of Indonesian nationalist leaders who were sent into exile here during the last phase of the colonial era. The other most favourite place is the early nineteenth century governor's palace because the area is scenically quite wonderful with a huge active volcano loom over the town and rich coral gardens just offshore. Tourists can check out clove and nutmeg plantations or follow island trails that pass through pockets of forest on the way to deserted beaches.

Despite the many advantages, the journey to go there and to return needs a lot of costs and struggle. It takes around 6 hours to get there by speedboat from Tulehu Port, Ambon. An alternative mode is by a Pelni boat, traveling once in two weeks and taking 15 hours to get there. The available Pelni boats are: Ngapulo, Tidar and Pangrango. Another alternative is by plane. However, sometimes the plane does not operate, so a boat comes up as the only option left to reach Banda Neira.

Although Banda Neira needs hard effort to be reached, the attractiveness of this town is well worth the effort. Therefore, I recommend Banda Neira as a great place to visit.

The Hidden Gem of East Nusa Tenggara : Nihiwatu

1Nusa Tenggara Timur is located in the eastern part of the Lesser Sunda Islands, including West Timor. If you love traveling, you will find that Nusa Tenggara Timur is a fascinating place to visit as it has several interesting places to visit, such as Komodo island, Labuan Bajo, and Kelimutu Lake. Recently, travelers put their attention on Nihiwatu as a travel destination as one of the hotels was acclaimed as the best hotel in the 'world's best awards' by the prestigious magazine, Travel Leisure in 2016. However, before you pack your bag and travel there; let's have a look at the two sides of the coin of traveling to Nihiwatu beach prior to your trip.

2Nihiwatu is remotely located; it is far from the hustle and bustle of the city. Hence, you can enjoy the fresh air and serene atmosphere as you arrive in Nihiwatu. The place offers a fascinating beach view that ranks number 17 among 100 most beautiful beaches in the world.

Tourists can experience several activities such as snorkeling, diving, fishing, boat riding, and so on during their visit in Nihiwatu. Tourists can also immerse themselves with the local family, visit the village's traditional market, or help farmers pick crops, hike in the jungle, and ride bicycles in the countryside. Nihiwatu is prominent among surfers.

3The two- to three meters- high waves lure professional surfers to challenge their skills. In fact, Nihiwatu is also known as Occi's left or God's left. a place that has attractive waves for surfing.

4Nevertheless, the beauty of Nihiwatu is worth a king's ransom at least to the extent of transportation and accommodation. You can visit Nihiwatu by air or by land. If you decide to travel by air, you need to reach Tambolaka airport, you can use a plane which departs from Ngurah Rai airport in Bali. Afterwards, you can continue the journey by renting a car for 90 minutes and the cost is approximately Rp. 400,000,- to Rp.650,000,- per day. If road trip is your choice, you may start your journey from Gilimanuk harbor, Bali, to Waikato harbor in South West Sumba. The trip itself is time consuming as you need to transit in several harbors prior to arriving in Waikato harbor. Based on the transportation illustration it is clear that traveling to Nihiwatu is costly whether you use air travel or road trip. Nihiwatu may also not be affordable in terms of accommodation. Several accommodations, such as Nihi Sumba, Lelewatu resort, Alamayah hotel, and Rua beach resort are considered to be pricey with five millions rupiah per night, and some require guests to stay for five days minimum. Unfortunately, some of the most stunning beaches in Nihiwatu are private, and thus they can only be accessed by the guests staying at the hotel or resort.

5Nihiwatu can be a paradise for travelers because it offers the atmosphere as well as various leisure activities. Further, surfers will find the place fascinating as they practice their skills whether they are beginner or professional. However, Nihiwatu may not be affordable for several visitors since the way to get there and also the accommodation can be very costly.

Rule of Money

The 50 30 20% rule of money is the rule to manage expenses. The 50% goes to the needs like food water and shelter, meanwhile 30% goes to the ones like going out to dinner and anything you want to buy, and 20% goes to saving or maybe paying off the debt. There are some pros and cons towards this rule.

The proponents of this issue think that creating a 50 30 20% budget is super easy because there are not tons of rules to follow. It just operates on the guidelines that you put 50 30 20% of your money into various categories and those are the only rules. Therefore it lets you decide what is a want and what is a need.

On the other hand, the opponents of this issue believe that it can be difficult to distinguish between a want and a need. Let us use a scenario to explain this. Imagine you are out of the area with your 7-year-old daughter and she starts complaining that she is really hungry and she is complaining a lot. Consequentially you stop by a fast food restaurant to quiet her down by giving food and toys in one package of meal. On that point, the meal at the fast food restaurant can be confusing whether it is a want or a need.

All in all, the simple rule of budgeting can give great benefit although it may give confusion in certain situations.

Rule of Money

The 50 30 20% rule of money is the rule to manage expenses. The 50% goes to the needs like food water and shelter, meanwhile 30% goes to the ones like going out to dinner and anything you want to buy, and 20% goes to saving or maybe paying off the debt. There are some pros and cons towards this rule.

The proponents of this issue think that creating a 50 30 20% budget is super easy because there are not tons of rules to follow. It just operates on the guidelines that you put 50 30 20% of your money into various categories and those are the only rules. Therefore it lets you decide what is a want and what is a need.

On the other hand, the opponents of this issue believe that it can be difficult to distinguish between a want and a need. Let us use a scenario to explain this. Imagine you are out of the area with your 7-year-old daughter and she starts complaining that she is really hungry and she is complaining a lot. Consequentially you stop by a fast food restaurant to quiet her down by giving food and toys in one package of meal. On that point, the meal at the fast food restaurant can be confusing whether it is a want or a need.

All in all, the simple rule of budgeting can give great benefit although it may give confusion in certain situations.

QUESTION:

What do proponents of the 50-30-20 rule consider to be its main advantage?

- A. It guarantees financial success
- B. It helps eliminate debt quickly
- C. It is easy to follow with few rules
- D. It ensures high returns on investments
- E. It maximizes investment opportunities

The Story of Bujang Beji

Once upon a time, lived two men named Bujang Beji and Tumenggung Marubai, who were different from each other in character. Tumenggung Marubai was a humble, kind-hearted person. Bujang Beji was his opposite. He was greedy and arrogant.

They made a living as fishermen, each having his own favorite spot for fishing. Tumenggung Marubai sourced his fish Rimpang Melawi River, where fish could be found in abundance. As for Bujang Beji, he always fished in Simpang Kapuas River, where there was less fish. Therefore, it was no wonder that Tumenggung Marubai always brought home more fish than did Bujang Beji.

Tumenggung Marubai used a big trap called bubu to catch fish. After his bubu was filled with fish, he chose only the bigger ones and released the smaller ones back to the river. Thanks to his fishing wisdom, there were always plenty of fish in the river. Realizing that he had never caught as many fish as Tumenggung Marubai did, Bujang Beji felt so envious that he thought of a way to beat him. An evil thought crossed his mind. He decided to catch fish using tuba, a fish poison extracted from derris root. He found it works. Fish were easily caught, more and more fish everyday.

But there was a greater problem that he did not realize, it was that the fish were greatly reduced. On the other hand, Tumenggung Marubai still got a lot of catches. This made Bujang Beji even more jealous. "What?" Bujang Beji yelled "No one is better than me!" He must have the best of everything - everyone knows that. What could be better?

Bujang Beji was successful in catching many fish, but seeing what Tumenggung Marubai got, Bujang Beji was bothered. So Bujang Beji decided to get rid of Tumenggung Marubai's luck, once and for all.

Then, Bujang Beji began to think and he found the way he thought was the best. The very finest idea crossed his mind, "I have to cover the flow of the Melawi River with a large rock upstream, so the fish will settle there," thought Bujang Beji. He planned to use a large stone from the hills of Nanga Silat. Then, he departed for the hills. He brought the rock in his hand. Then all of a sudden, far away, he heard the sound of girls laughing at him. His attention was distracted, Bujang Beji accidentally stepped on a thorn, reflexively he dropped the stone that he was holding. Bujang Beji was caught in anger. Bujang Beji found that it was the khayangan goddesses who laughed at him. "You will pay for this!" he shouted as he stamped his foot pierced by a poisonous thorn on one of the nearby hills. Bujang Beji's failed to close the Melawi River. All because of the goddesses of heaven. "I will take revenge," said Bujang Beji.

Bujang Beji planned to reach the land of heaven by using the kumpang mambu tree, which is a kind of giant wooden tree whose end rises to the sky. He started planting the scented tree. In just a few days the tree had grown so high that the top was invisible to the naked eye. Right before climbing the Kumpang Bambu, he did a superstition ritual in order to get protection from the holy spirits of the land and animal spirits. However, there were two animals that Bujang Beji forgot to offer, they were a group of termites and bears. It made them angry. They also negotiated to thwart Bujang Beji. "Let's just gnaw the bamboo tree until it's broken!" proposed the bear. The Termite agreed. Then they started to do it. At that time, Bujang Beji had almost reached the land of heaven, he fell into the ground and died instantly. Thus, Bujang Beji's attempt to harm the goddesses of heaven also failed. Tumenggung Marubai was spared from Bujang Beji's evil intentions. Nowadays, the peak of Nanga Silat Hill is well known as Bukit Kelam. It has become one of the tourist attractions in Sintang, West Kalimantan, and has become a tourist forest area with very beautiful scenery.

QUESTION:

What motivates Bujang Beji in his journey?

- A. The desire for wealth and fame.
- B. The need to fulfil family obligations.
- C. A quest for revenge against his enemies.
- D. The pursuit of knowledge and personal growth.
